Battleship, Carrier, 7 Other Ships Sunk By Submarine Atomic Bomb Test

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press-Science Editor

ABOARD U.S. APPALACHIAN, Bikini Lagoon (AP)—The first underwater atomic bomb, exploding with an awesome roar that thundered upward into a beautiful cloudy geyser, destroyed the battleship Arkansas and sank the aircraft carrier Saratoga and seven lesser vessels today.

Associated Press correspondent Don Whitehead, in the best position to view the blast from a B-29, said it was so powerful that the Arkansas was shoved far out of her original anchorage just before she plunged and other target vessels near the centre of the fleet of 75 were tossed about like toys.

ARKANSAS GOES DOWN

First to go in the mighty plutonium blast that was the second chapter of the U.S. Army-Navy "Operation Crossroads" was the old 26,100-ton Arkansas. She and two small craft, a yard oiler and a tank-landing ship, disappeared in the pink-fringed mist at 8:35 a.m. (1:35 p.m., P.S.T., Wednesday).

Seven hours and 32 minutes later the 33,000-ton Saratoga, war-torn carrier, settled to the bottom of the Bikini Lagoon.

A little later five of the six submarines submerged in the lagoon were found to be resting on the bottom. Whether they were crushed or had sunk through defects in their air lines was not known.

Probably the most powerful man-made force ever loosed—perhaps even stronger than the bomb that razed most of Nagasaki last August—the atomic bomb did not immediately sink as many of the 75 target vessels as observers had expected.

The true extent of the damage is still unknown, however. Ships still were "hot" with radioactivity many hours later. Naval men and scientists edged closer and re-entered the lagoon with sensitive instruments, trying to determine the danger and ascertain the full damage as soon as possible.

The battleship New York and the Japanese battleship Nagato were listing, evidently damaged, as were the battered carrier Independence, the destroyer Hughes, the transport Fallon and the heavy cruiser Pensacola.

When the world's fifth atomic bomb was set off by remote radio control an almost incredibly white dome of water arose. It glowed momentarily. Then it appeared, at first wide and flat, to perhaps half a mile in breadth. Suddenly it shot upward with lightning speed.

At the top of the dome, the water spread in a great wide column with a rounded top. In two seconds the top widened like a grotesque mushroom, whose thick stem by that time was nearly half a mile wide at the base, which in turn was boiling upward.

The air mushroom spread out to more than a mile wide. All this time the entire display was dazzling white.

Then from the widening edges of the mushroom umbrella pure white points of water, V-shaped, began streaming down toward the ships. Many of these sprays were far larger than any of the battleships.

June Coal Output Down 15,486 Tons

Coal output of British Columbia mines in June totaled 113,437 long tons, a loss of 15,486 tons from June, 1945.

Monthly report of the chief inspector of mines showed today losses in all the districts of the province producing coal.

Output of Vancouver Island mines totaled 41,757 tons last month against 48,773 in June, 1945. Chief producers on the island were Comox Colliery, 19,870 tons, No. 10 Mine, South Wellington, 16,260, and White Rapids Mine, 4,421 tons.

East Kootenay district produced 68,652 tons last month compared with 72,712 in June, 1945. Nicola-Princeton district's output totaled 2,442 tons, a loss from 4,584 tons in June, 1945, while Northern district produced only 586 tons, compared with 2,854 during the previous June.

Slight Further Relief Of Forest Fire Hazard

Higher humidities gave some further relief today to Vancouver Island's forest, but the chief forest protection officer reported: "It's nothing to write home about."

The humidity of the atmosphere and the fuel moisture content both started to rise Tuesday night and continued to rise slightly today.

The hazard, although there is no serious forest fire in the province, was still considered extreme.

U.S. To Support Baruch Plan For Atomic Control

NEW YORK (AP)—An authorized source said today the United States would continue to press for adoption of the Baruch atomic control plan despite Russia's declaration that she could not accept the key United States proposals.

This source said the U.S. delegation did not consider Wednesday's statement by Soviet Delegate Gromyko as Russia's final position on the atomic control question, but regarded it merely as an "argument" against the Baruch plan.

Russia's position was made known at a closed session of the Atomic Control Commission's Committee No. 2 when Mr. Gromyko said flatly Russia would not surrender her veto rights or give up her sovereignty to the extent of permitting international inspection of atomic facilities.

A member of the U.S. delegation said Mr. Gromyko's position was in keeping with previous Russian statements and, for this reason, the U.S. delegation did not feel the declaration created anything "resembling a crisis."

The big problem continued to be to find a way to reconcile the differences between the U.S. and Russia, which have existed since the atomic discussions started, he said.

Meanwhile, Committee No. 2 will turn temporarily from the Baruch plan to Russia's plan, which differs sharply from the U.S. proposals in that it provides for the immediate outlawing of atomic weapons, while the Americans want the weapons to be banned only after effective controls have been set up.

Canada, Britain Sign Pact For 4-Year Wheat Delivery

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister MacKinnon today announced in Commons a four-year agreement under which Canada will sell Britain 600,000,000 bushels of wheat at a fixed price of $1.55 a bushel for the first two years and at minimum prices of $1.25 and $1 a bushel for the third and fourth years, respectively.

The agreement becomes effective Aug. 1 this year.

It provides that Britain will purchase 160,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in the crop year 1946-47, 160,000,000 in 1947-48, 140,000,000 in 1948-49 and 140,000,000 in 1949-50.

Britain may sell or dispose of the wheat and flour purchased under the agreement "in whatever manner the United Kingdom may deem both in regard to destination and price."

Mr. MacKinnon said the contract provides that in the event of the United Kingdom requiring from Canada any additional quantities of wheat, which the Canadian government is prepared to make available and the United Kingdom government accepts shall in all respects be subject to the provisions of the agreement.

PART IN FLOUR

Part of the quantity of wheat specified in the contract will be supplied in the form of flour in the following amounts:

1946-47—500,000 tons firm with an additional quantity up to 140,000 tons, dependent upon the output of the crop; 1947-48—400,000 tons firm with an additional quantity up to 140,000 tons, dependent upon the crop; 1948-49—a minimum of 300,000 tons, the actual tonnage to be negotiated by July 1, 1947; 1949-50—a minimum of 300,000 tons, the actual tonnage to be negotiated by July 1, 1948.

Concerning prices, Mr. MacKinnon said:

"The prices which the United Kingdom government undertake to pay for the wheat supplied is as follows, basis No. 1 Manitoba northern, in store Fort William, Port Arthur, Vancouver or Churchill:

1946-47, a fixed price of $1.55 a bushel; 1947-48, a fixed price of $1.55 a bushel; 1948-49, a minimum price of $1.25 a bushel, the actual price to be negotiated by Dec. 31, 1947; 1949-50, a minimum price of $1 a bushel, the actual price to be negotiated by Dec. 31, 1948."

He said the contract provides that its terms and conditions shall be subject to any modification or amendment which may be necessary with any international agreements or arrangements later concluded, to which both governments are parties.

"Nothing in the agreement will affect decisions which may be taken on the basis of recommendations of the international emergency food council," Mr. MacKinnon added.

"The contract is based upon commercial considerations of mutual interest. It insures to the United Kingdom substantial quantities of wheat during the expected period of shortage at prices below those which would be payable were there to be a free market at the present time. This is the commercial advantage which the United Kingdom secures."

"In the later period of the contract, Canada receives the advantages of a guaranteed market, though for a diminished quantity, and of the assurance of at least the stated minimum price. In determining the actual price in the last two years, regard will be had to the extent to which the agreed price for the first two years falls below the world price for that period."

PROTECTED FROM LOSSES

"Our farmers are, therefore, protected from crippling losses should there be a world slump in wheat prices. This is the commercial advantage which Canada secures."

The agreement specifies that in determining the price for the crop year 1948-49 and 1949-50 the British government "will have regard to any difference between the prices paid under this agreement in the 1946-47 and 1947-48 crop years and the world prices for wheat in the 1946-47 and 1947-48 crop years."

"The prices to be paid for grades other than No. 1 Manitoba Northern to be delivered under the agreement will be determined yearly by consultation between the two governments."

Commissioner Asks Steel Strikers Go To Work, Take Vote

OTTAWA (CP)—Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, industrial disputes commissioner in the current steel strike, today recommended work be resumed in the three plants affected by strikes and that the Labor Department conduct a vote on the proposal for a 10-cent wage increase after a "cooling-off" period of 60 days. The union's demand was for a 19½-cent increase.

The commissioner's report was made public when he appeared as a witness before the Commons industrial relations committee.

Mr. Justice Roach criticized the condition under which union officers had become "a dictatorship" with loss to workers of the right to determine whether a compromise offer was acceptable.

The reported covered negotiations between the United Steel workers of America (C.I.O.) and the three companies—Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, Sydney, N.S.; Steel Company of Canada, Hamilton, and the Algoma Steel Corporation, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

After reading his report Mr. Justice Roach, in reply to questions from J. J. Robinette, committee counsel, said he would favor the establishment of a steel council to deal with problems in the industry as a fact-finding body without power to decide. Its findings would be made available to the employers, all employees and the public,

Lost June 29, He Staggers Into Northern Town

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Minister Gibson announced today in the Commons that Flt. Lt. Bill McKenzie, pilot of a jet-propelled plane that disappeared June 29, had been reported safe.

Air Force headquarters said information reaching them was that McKenzie, a native of Winnipeg, was at a place called Laurentian Lodge, on Flack Lake, near Blind River.

McKenzie's wife lives at 130 Roseberry Avenue, Winnipeg, and his mother, Mrs. J. S. Taylor, at 35 Nichol Avenue, St. Vital, Man.

Mrs. James Berry, Ontario Forestry Service telephone operator at Iron Bridge, near Blind River, telephoned air force headquarters that a man who said he was the missing Gloster Meteor pilot had telephoned her from Laurentian Lodge and said he wanted transportation out. Headquarters acted on this information, immediately dispatching a plane.

A call back to Mrs. Berry brought further information that McKenzie walked into Laurentian Lodge today. He had given the operator his correct service number and told her that he had lost 47 pounds, but was not in bad shape. However, he was placed under the care of two physicians at the lodge.

The pilot said he had put his jet plane down safely on the shore of Helen Lake. He built a number of fires in an attempt to attract attention, but heavy rains extinguished them.

LOST TRACK OF DAYS

LAURENTIAN LODGE, Flack Lake, Ont. (CP)—"What date is this? I've been lost since June 29 and am I ever glad to see you!"

Those were the first words spoken today by Flt. Lt. W. (Bill) McKenzie when he walked into this bushland resort 26 miles northeast of Blind River, Ont.

The young airman in the tattered uniform was the pilot of an R.C.A.F. Gloster Meteor jet-propelled plane which crashed into Helen Bar Lake, 60 miles northwest of Blind River, which is a lumbering town 96 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

The sole of one of McKenzie's shoes was gone. The other was held in place by a length of wire. For four weeks the pilot had managed to keep alive in the depths of Algoma District's bush country.

RAINS KILL FIRE

Three days ago heavy rains drenched the small fire McKenzie had kept going with his cigarette lighter and he had had no fire since. Early today he decided to try to make a dash for civilization.

He had lost 47 pounds. In his four weeks in the bush, gaunt and bewildered, he said he was in "fairly good condition."

As he waited here for an R.C.A.F. plane to pick him up, he related some of the details of the crash of the jet fighter.

First of all, his oxygen gave out.

That made him start to look for a place to land. Next the fuel supply ran out.

PLANE SOON SANK

The aircraft crashed into Helen Bar Lake and sank almost immediately. The pilot climbed out of the wreckage uninjured.

Two doctors examined McKenzie here, said he could have a light meal and ordered him to bed. He was allowed no visitors.

McKenzie was described as "nearly exhausted." When he checked himself over at Laurentian Lodge he commented: "Oh, boy, am I in need of a bath and shave."

WIFE AWAITING CALL
WINNIPEG (CP)—Mrs. W. McKenzie, wife of Flt. Lt. Bill McKenzie, told the Canadian Press she and her mother-in-law, Mrs. J. S. Taylor, would fly east immediately they were informed where the air force officer was being taken.

"We're both so excited . . . we are just waiting for the air force to tell us where Bill is being taken. If it's Toronto or Ottawa, we'll fly there."

She said she hadn't, as yet, heard from her husband, but "I'm expecting a call any minute."

On July 11, Mrs. Taylor announced that she and the flier's wife were offering a $500 reward to "any civilian who might find him."

When the official aerial search ended about a week after McKenzie was reported missing, his mother said it was a great shock to them.

"I'm not satisfied," she told a reporter at that time. "He's been a good flier, and he should be worth more than a week's search."

Montgomery Expected To Arrive Sept. 4

Field Marshal Montgomery, originally expected to arrive in Victoria Sept. 13, is now scheduled to arrive here Sept. 4, it was reported today. The Field Marshal is expected to arrive in Halifax Aug. 24, beginning his Canadian tour Aug. 25.

He will fly to Victoria from Calgary and visit the Parliament Building and Government House in a short tour. The Canadian Scottish Regiment has been invited to provide a guard of honor for the Field Marshal.

At the conclusion of his visit here, he is scheduled to fly to Vancouver the same day to continue his west coast visit.

Communists Admit Chungking Advance

NANKING (AP)—Chinese government troops today were conceded by the Communists to have penetrated 50 miles into Communist areas north of the Yangtze River in Kiangsu Province—north of the great cities of Nanking and Shanghai.

The Communists, contending that 600,000 government soldiers were involved and that 20,000 had been lost in the operation to-date, said this was a "full-scale" offensive by the government along a 130-mile front.

A government spokesman said merely that there were "ample" national troops in the area to block any communist threat to this capital and Shanghai.

Strawberry Acreage To Increase

Department of Agriculture officials predicted today that strawberry acreage in Saanich had reached its low and would increase next year and in following years.

Officials said there had been considerable new planting this year and the crops next year would probably be bigger.

They said the loganberry crop was past its peak now, although there was a considerable section yet to be picked. The crop was described as being fairly good. The raspberry crop is almost over.

A small acreage of boysenberries is now being picked.

While rains in June and July did some damage to the strawberry crop, the total production was actually increased by the wet weather. Hay crops suffered considerably from rain in June and July but during dry weather during the last 10 days most of the hay has been harvested. Hay in some low areas of Saanich is yet to be harvested. While sweet cherries were considerably damaged by the rain and most of the Byngs and Lamberts have now been picked, the sour cherry crop suffered little rain damage. Picks of English Morello and Olivet cherries are about average.

Minister Studies Suggested Wider Income Tax Appeal Plan

Street Railwaymen Reject B.C.E.R.'s Offer By 23 Votes

VANCOUVER (CP) — Members of the Street Railwaymen's Union (A.F.L.) in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster have rejected a B.C. Electric Railway Co. wage boost offer of 7½ cents an hour by a margin of 23 votes.

In the balloting conducted Tuesday the members voted 1,076 to 1,053 against accepting the offer. George Morrison, business agent of Division 101 here, said: "There were nine spoiled ballots. Union and company officials said a joint application will now be made for a conciliation board to try and resolve the stalemate. The union will now press for its original demands, 3 cents an hour raise and a 40-hour week. Several other company proposals including pension and hospitalization schemes were automatically rejected with the 7½-cent offer."

MORE EACH MONTH

If the proposed wage scale had been adopted the street railwaymen would have received an extra $15 take-home pay a month, Mr. Morrison said. The union's plan would have given employees $5 more pay a month but an extra day off.

Only concession of the B.C.E.R. to shorter hours was a promise that the 46-hour week of platform men would be reduced to 44 hours in March, 1948.

Here are other points included in the union's rejection:

1. Complete union security by addition of the check-off to the closed shop.
2. Medical and hospitalization plan to have been introduced as soon as details could be worked out.
3. Revision of the pension policy — both parties to contribute to achieve a 50 per cent higher pension for future service.
4. A three-year contract with wages to be discussed annually. The 7½-cent offer retroactive to March 1, 1946.

E. A. Lucas Quits C.C.F. As Protest

VANCOUVER (CP) — E. A. Lucas, Vancouver lawyer and C.C.F. candidate in the 1945 federal election, announced Wednesday his resignation from the party in protest against an editorial in the C.C.F. News criticizing Mr. Justice A. M. Harper for granting an injunction against the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.) on strike at the Vancouver Daily Province.

In his letter of resignation, Mr. Lucas said he assumed the editorial expressed the official view of the C.C.F. organization. It added that it was a "direct and detailed charge against the integrity of the judges of our courts in general and was particularly and personally directed against Mr. Justice Harper."

The letter concluded: "The editorial is a completely unjustified and foundationless attack which no responsible political organization, acting upon the fundamentals of self-respect, would be guilty of."

At First United

Rev. Andrew Roddan, pastor of First United Church, Vancouver, will preach morning and evening sermons at First United Church, Quadra Street, Sunday, Mr. Roddan will speak on the "Anchors of the Soul" at 11 in the morning, and "God's Plan for a New World Order" at 7.30 in the evening.

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will give further consideration to the machinery it plans to establish to hear appeals against tax assessments for 1946 and subsequent years, Acting Finance Minister Abbott told the Commons Wednesday.

Replying to opposition criticism that a proposed appeal board would have too limited powers and would start to work too late to be of any use on assessments during the high taxation period, Mr. Abbott said he would study suggestions and probably make a statement when the bill establishing the board is introduced.

Mr. Abbott spoke during continued study of resolutions to bills which will bring into effect the income tax changes proposed in the budget brought down June 27 by Finance Minister Ilsley.

Debate on the resolutions brought these developments:

1. Progressive — Conservative and Social Credit party members urged that a taxpayer with children be given the choice of a $300 exemption per dependent of $100, plus family allowance payments.
2. Ludger D'Amour, Lib., Beauport, Que., moved a resolution that would increase income tax exemptions from $750 to $1,500 for single persons and from $1,500 to $3,000 for married persons, and make up for the loss of revenue through a 10 per cent retail sales tax.

3. Committee Chairman W. H. Golding, Lib., Huron-Perth, Ont., ruled the resolution out of order on the grounds that only a minister can move any legislation dealing with money matters.

4. Mr. Abbott stated contributions to political party funds could not be deducted from income for taxation purposes.

5. Victor Quelch, S.C., Acadia, Alta., said the government should grant tax bonds rather than tax credits, so the bonds could be cashed in during periods when purchasing power is needed.

6. David Gourd, Lib., Chapleau, Que., urged special tax consideration for gold and basic mining to prevent the closing of many mines, resultant unemployment and the subsequent loss of revenue for the Dominion.

As discussion petered out, members passed the resolution increasing exemptions from $660 to $750 for single persons and from $1,200 to $1,500 for married persons. In the same resolution was the provision setting a $300 exemption for dependents over 16 and a $100 exemption, plus family allowances for dependents under 16.

Also passed was a resolution under which the exemption of a married man will be reduced by the amount his wife receives over and above $250.

Likewise adopted was a resolution increasing the exemptions on investment income from $1,500 to $1,800.

Island Youngsters Search For Treasure From Yacht Wreck

NANA 10 — They didn't wear cocked hats and carry cutlasses but they were searching for "treasure" just the same.

A group of juvenile beachcombers, hearing a report that $750 went down with the pleasure cruiser "Zob" e, which burned and sank near Nanaimo Yacht Club Saturday afternoon, have been searching the shore of Newcastle Island and Brechin.

Wearing trunks and waders and armed with sticks and rakes instead of more formal treasure-hunting equipment, the youngsters are still prodding among rocks and driftwood in the hope of finding the $750.

Dr. S. S. Thordarson of Tacoma who escaped from the burning boat with his wife and two children, did report that his "bankroll" together with all his charts and papers went down with the craft, but he gave no indication that the money lost would reach the $750 mark. Also, as the doctor's wallet was in his clothing, it was in the path of the flames which swept the boat from end to end, it is not considered likely that the paper money would survive the blaze.

Free Of Jap Balloons Freed Reached Here
TOKYO (AP) — Three to five per cent of the 9,000 bombing balloons launched by the Japanese from the east coast of Honshu during the war are known to have reached the North American continent, Maj. Gen. H. J. Casey said today.

Gen. Casey, chief engineer for U.S. army forces in the Pacific, said many landed in remote places and may never be found.

A number of the balloons landed in western Canada.

IN APPRECIATION OF INDEPENDENCE — President Manuel Roxas, left, of the new Philippine Commonwealth, looks over the United States flag which will be his personal gift to President Truman in gratitude for U.S. grant of independence to the Philippines. ### B. A. Dickson Named Soil Specialist

Bruce A. Dickson, secretary-treasurer of the Vancouver Island Branch of the Agricultural Institute of Canada, has accepted a position as soil specialist with the Dominion Experimental Farms Service with offices at Agassiz. Mr. Dickson will take up his new duties at an early date and will be responsible for conducting soil fertility researches in field crops on those areas covered by the soil surveys in B.C. Mr. Dickson is a graduate in plant nutrition from the University of B.C. and since 1942 has been on the staff of the Dominion Experimental Station, Nanaimo. During the past four years he has done fundamental research on problems pertaining to soil fertility and his work is well known to farmers on Vancouver Island.

Death For 2 Japs; 6 Sent To Prison

SHANGHAI (AP) — A three-man U.S. military commission today sentenced eight Japanese, two of them to death, in the mass murder of 14 U.S. fliers downed over Formosa, late in 1945.

Sentenced to death were Col. Seichi Furukawa, former chief of the judicial department of Japan's 10th area army, and Lt. Col. Naritaka Sugiura, who was chief of the Japanese military tribunal which tried the 14 Americans.

Lt. Gen. Harukei Isayama, who was chief of staff of the 10th area army, was sentenced to life imprisonment, as was Capt. Yoshio Nakano, the judge at the trials of the Americans.

Of the four others, one received a 40-year prison term, two 30 years and one a 20-year sentence.

Operations Of Unrra To End As Funds Run Out; D.P.'s A Problem

WASHINGTON (CP) — Operations of the United Nations' Relief and Rehabilitation Administration will definitely end with exhaustion of appropriations for the current year and the winding-up process will be a major subject of discussion at the council meeting scheduled to open in Geneva Aug. 5.

A second major problem at the conference will be the 500,000 displaced persons still being cared for in European encampments under the administration of Unrra.

Canada will be represented at this council session by Finance Minister Ilsley and L. B. Pearson, ambassador to the United States, who has been closely associated with the administration since it was set up in Atlantic City in November, 1943.

The United States has contributed about 72 per cent of the total cost of Unrra—nearly $4,000,000,000—and it was authoritatively reported today that this country will make no further contributions.

Without United States contributions on the major scale this country was assessed, Unrra could not continue. However, the original intention was that it would not be necessary after this year.

It is possible that cessation of Unrra's operations will necessitate some substitute agency to assist a number of countries, including Italy and Austria.

Fiorello LaGuardia, director-general of Unrra, is now in Europe on a tour of the administration's main operating centres. He is expected to offer his resignation at the Geneva meeting, but may remain in office long enough to visit China, where the schedule calls for operations until the end of March. European activities are definitely scheduled to end Dec. 31.

Health Bill Passed

LONDON (CP) — The House of Lords Wednesday gave third reading and passage to the National Insurance Bill, which increases financial aid in case of unemployment and illness and enlarges old age and other pensions.

Health Minister Aneurin Bevan has said the bill, providing free medical service for every one in the United Kingdom, places Britain in the forefront of the countries of the world. The minister estimates the plan will cost £152,000,000 ($308,000,000) annually.

The government hopes to have the bill in operation in 1948.

The bill provides hospital and special services, including all forms of general and special hospital provisions. It sets up health centres and general practitioner services, general and personal health care by doctors and dentists of the patient's choice.

Doctors would be permitted to enter public service wholly or on a part-time basis, or to remain altogether outside of the public service.

Indian Prince 'Sitting Tight' With Rich Atom-Making Deposits

BOMBAY (AP)—The princely Indian state of Travancore is playing a cagey, "sit-tight" game with its rich deposits of mineral sands, including thorium, from which atomic energy can be derived.

Sir C. P. Ramaswamy Aiyer, Dewan (Prime Minister) of Travancore, has made it clear that in the future—if possible—the sands which stretch for 150 miles along the southwestern coast will be processed within Travancore instead of being shipped in the raw state.

He says no commitments have been made to any government regarding disposition of the thorium and that the Maharajah-ruled state has not been approached formally by any government. There has been a flood of inquiries from private sources, "most of them urgent and hectic," he says.

At present, so far as the government of Travancore is concerned, thorium is merely a by-product of other minerals which find a ready sale in the world market. These include ilmenite, which is used to make fine paint, and others which are used for abrasives. Monazite, from which thorium can be extracted, is used for fertilizers.

The Prime Minister, who says his state also has negligible amounts of the uranium needed to produce atomic energy from thorium, says he does not want to hurry negotiations for thorium.

200 Priests Slain In Yugoslavia

ROME (AP)—A Vatican source said Wednesday an estimate that more than 200 priests had been executed in Yugoslavia since the end of the war was "not, according to Vatican information, exaggerated."

He commented, in reply to questions about a New York Times dispatch quoting travelers from Belgrade as saying Premier Marshal Tito's anti-Catholic campaign of terrorism had resulted in the death of 200 priests, 195 without trial, from April, 1944, to May 15, 1946, which includes both war and postwar periods.

Churchmen inside and outside Yugoslavia said a minimum of 400 Roman Catholic priests had been tried since the war ended. Because of secrecy surrounding most of the Yugoslav court hearings, it was impossible to say precisely how many had been put to death.

Clearing Of London War Rubble Uncovers Ruins Of Ancient City

LONDON (AP)—Beneath the wartime rubble of London have been found archaeological secrets which for centuries had been sealed under buildings that foiled the curious researcher.

Investigators have dug down to the ruins of the original London built about 100 A.D. around Ludgate Hill, on which now stands St. Paul's Cathedral.

W. F. Grimes, keeper of the London Museum, who has been conducting the research, said "a skull believed to be that of an inhabitant of Roman London, Roman glazed ware, and cooking pots and jugs of the Middle Ages are being unearthed."

"We found," Mr. Grimes continued, "that the original Roman surface was about 18 feet below the modern road surface, or eight feet below the present London cellars. At that level people had evidently lived for some time, and instead of stone buildings they had timber buildings as are commonly found in the late pre-historic periods in Britain."

In one area of the old city a medieval centre of the tanning and leather industry was found.

"We discovered a number of funnel-shaped pits, heavily lined with wood, consisting of planks packed by a wicker-work construction," he added. "Probably they were the soaking pits used by the craftsmen of the time."

The discoveries recalled the chance finding of the famous Roman health resort at the western English city of Bath. In the evacuation of a basement in the last century, 2,000-year-old lead water pipes were unearthed. Further explorations revealed a complete system of swimming pools where Caesar's legions may have basked in the sun.

U.S. Ships Get Pacific Business; Canadians Lag

VANCOUVER (CP)—The possibility that United States shipping firms will grab most of the prewar Pacific trade handled by the now non-existent Japanese merchant navy because of the lack of initiative by Canadians concerned was seen here today.

An observer familiar with the Vancouver shipping situation said Americans have jumped into the battle for the shipping business "with both feet" while Canadian shipping firms appear slow in re-entering.

This observer, who did not want his name used, commented that the "golden opportunity" provided for expanding Canada's shipping in the Pacific by the lack of any Japanese bottoms apparently is being missed.

At present there are 46 freighters, all 10,000-tonners, operating out of Vancouver and although this gives the port a higher tonnage than in prewar years, they are not going after the permanent peacetime business.

These freighters, all slow vessels built for convoy duty, are handling chiefly Unra shipments to Asia and Europe.

U.S. firms appear more willing to gamble on the prospects of getting the Pacific business while Canadians, still without any announced plans of entering the battle, are more conservative. More than 100 U.S. firms have re-established agencies or branches in Shanghai.

Canadian Pacific Steamships Co. Ltd. was the major Dominion firm operating out of Vancouver and Victoria before the war, but to date that firm has given no definite indication of when it will resume those lines.

Man's Leg Broken But He Saves Lives

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—James Hines, 35, of Hudson, standing on a broken leg injured while he was escaping from a burning house, caught six children thrown to him from a third-story window by two women.

Caught in a third-floor apartment by fire Wednesday, Hines leaped to a nearby garage, breaking his leg in the jump. Despite his injury, he then jumped to the ground.

The children, ranging in age from 1 to 10, were dropped to him from the third floor.

THE PAST AND THE FUTURE

WHILE SCIENTISTS AT BIKINI SEEK to penetrate the veil of the future for a clearer prospect of the possibilities of atomic power, another group of learned men probe the relics of an earlier civilization as rubble is removed from the original site of London. Here is an interesting contrast which might furnish a moral. The archaeologists are unearthing Roman glazed ware and cooking pots and jugs of the Middle Ages. On the other side of the world a new era is unfolding with the possibility of the realization of man's most altruistic dreams or the materialization of his most horrible nightmare.

The emergence of the Roman relics may serve to make more complete museum collections and may fill in a little more of the incompletely known story of an age long passed. They will probably direct thought again to the decline of the great empire which grew from the city on the Tiber to encompass the known world of that day. And they may well suggest that the decay of that civilization sprang from a condition which might find its analogy in the world of 1946. Rome fell not because it lacked the material things of its age or the techniques, but because the cohesion and strength of moral fibre which made it great had decayed; it could not withstand the vitality of less civilized hordes.

Today mankind is threatened not by the advances which have been made in the technological and scientific fields, but by its failure to keep pace on the moral and spiritual planes with those developments and to insure their proper use.

As the public now watches the aftermath of Bikini, studies the emanations from the explosions there in the capitals of the great countries and in the councils of the nations, it is seized with anxiety. It asks itself if recognition is being given to the lessons of an earlier civilization. It wonders if all its material superiority is to be wasted and diverted to destruction. And it can find peace of mind only in the hope that the moral fibre will be strengthened and the social consciousness developed to seize the opportunity for world betterment which science offers as the alternative to obliteration.

DANGEROUS THOUGHTLESSNESS

THE VAST MAJORITY OF MOTORISTS who thronged highways to and from swimming resorts and recreation centres during the week-end no doubt noted with surprise and resentment the action of some passengers who flicked burning cigarettes from their cars as they rolled along. The heat and low humidity should have been sufficient to impress everyone with the increase in the fire hazard. Yet some thoughtless people, careless of the threat their action posed to the grasslands and forests, merely flipped their still glowing cigarettes to the roadside, where the breeze from following cars could have carried them to highly combustible growth. That is a poor way to guarantee the continuance of resorts and recreation centres or the scenic highways to them.

TURKEY'S PROGRESSIVE MARCH

FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE THE completion of the revolution 23 years ago the people of Turkey were permitted at last Sunday's general elections to vote very much in the same manner as that which prevails in this or any other democracy. They could cast ballots for either government-sponsored candidates or oppositionists in secret procedure—and, of course, without threats or intimidation. Latest figures reveal that the Republican People's Party (government) won 396 seats, the Democratic Party (opposition) 62 seats, and Independents seven.

Although it was not supposed this first really free election would materially weaken the dominant party's strength in the new National Assembly at Ankara, public interest, both inside and outside the Republic, centred on the fortunes of the opposition candidates—not only as such but more especially because of the government's previous attitude toward the other side of any question. For example, following a decision reached by the Fifth Grand Congress of the Republican People's Party on May 27, 1939, an independent group of 21 Deputies was experimentally formed from among the members of the R.P.P. to act as "benevolent critics" of the party's program during the debates in the National Assembly. After the election of 1943—without opposition candidates—this number was increased to 35. Since even this arrangement left the non-critical administration forces with no fewer than 413 Deputies out of 455, the artificial opposition structure naturally was not taken seriously by an electorate which the revolution and its aftermath of progress had awakened. Hence the electoral reform which got its baptism last Sunday.

It should be noted that the Republican People's Party is without question the principal political organization in Turkey and, as the record shows, is strongly nationalistic. President Ismet Inonu is its leader and by its foreign policy the party sought to keep the nation out of the Second World War as long as possible. But the government broke off relations with Germany on Aug. 2, 1944, and with Japan on Jan. 6, 1945, followed by declarations of war on both Axis nations on Feb. 23, 1945. In domestic policy the R.P.P. works for the modernization of the nation—such as the building of highways and railways for economic and strategic purposes; the separation of Church and State; the establishment of absolute equality in the eyes of the law; and the support of the Turkish language and culture to assure unity among the people. A trifle more than nine years ago the party amended the Constitution to include these principles, as a result of which it defines the state as "republican, nationalist, populist, secular and revolutionary." Incidentally, by a unanimous vote of a special Party Congress in December, 1938, the election of General Ismet Inonu as President General of the Party was rendered valid for life.

It will be interesting to observe from reports of the proceedings of the new National Assembly how an opposition which, presumably, will not be composed of "benevolent critics," interprets its obligations to the people by whose votes it was elected. In any event, modern Turkey under the late Kemal Ataturk built sound foundations for progress on more or less democratic lines. Sunday's elections thus mark another milestone toward representative and responsive government in the rejuvenated section of the former Ottoman Empire.

PERSONALITIES COUNT

DESPITE ALL THE SPEECHES ABOUT democracy and dictatorship, and all the talk about national strength, geographical position and spheres of influence, international relations are determined in the end by the nature and character of the men who conduct them. This has been true throughout recorded history and remains true today. It is alternately a frightening and a comforting fact. And nowhere has it been better illustrated recently than at the Paris four-power conference.

The Foreign Ministers' deadlock had held fast since last September, and showed no signs of breaking. Reasons of ideology and policy were cited to support the contention that an agreement was impossible unless a miracle happened. No one expected the miracle, or could predict its nature. But apparently it came to pass in the shrewd, persuasive personality of M. Georges Bidault, Premier and President of France. Thanks to him the impasse over Trieste was dissolved and the prospects of peace treaties and a general peace conference, at last definitely scheduled, are, for the first time, bright. Thanks are also due the other three ministers for their amenable attitudes. But those attitudes seem to have been induced by M. Bidault's arguments.

This relatively unknown professor, editorial writer, and more or less obscure politician seems to have attained eminence quite by accident as a result of his patriotic efforts. These efforts, however, carried out with a shrewdness and disarming innocence of manner, permitted him to direct and maintain the work of the underground without detection, while some of his closest associates were arrested, tortured and killed by the Nazis. His patriotic service brought him to the attention of General de Gaulle. And through the intricate ramifications of French politics he found himself first in the French Foreign Office and then in his present eminent position. That, briefly, tells who he is.

But how M. Bidault managed, as the weak junior member of this powerful foursome, to bring accord out of deadlock is a question whose complete answer is hidden within the walls of the Luxembourg Palace. But in budging the three greatest powers from their formerly immovable positions M. Bidault has not only illustrated again the force of an individual in world affairs, but has also presented the future roles of the smaller nations in a new and hopeful light.

THE BRIGHTER SIDE

A LEAVING TO THE UNHAPPY tone of world news is provided by a simple message of appreciation received in this city from the head of a family who recently visited Victoria and, while here, lost a cherished red cocker spaniel. The pet was located, cared for, and returned to the owner by citizens who performed that service without thought of reward or of favorable publicity for their actions. In gratitude, the owner has written a letter of thanks which says in part:

"Our experience in your city goes to show that this world is a much better place in which to live than many soap box orators would have us believe, and we are convinced that a large percentage of its best and kindest citizens live right in Victoria."

CANDY FROM A BABY

OUR NOMINATION FOR THE MEANEST man in the world is the Lower East Side candy merchant in New York who, on the day price controls were lifted, is reported to have raised the price of lollipops from a cent to three for a dime, and advanced his penny sticks of bubble gum to a nickel apiece.

It also is perhaps as eloquent an argument for our neighbor's O.P.A. as has come along in this whole discussion. On the books, the supply and demand of food seem nicely balanced. But one of the great difficulties is that many persons, like this merchant, will—in one way or another—take candy away from a baby unless there is a law to prevent them from doing it.

Foreign Allegiance

By J. H. GRAY

OTTAWA.

THE REPORT OF THE Taschereau-Kellock commission proves by documentation that the Communist Party of Canada, under any name, is an instrument of Russian government national policy. That report contains information which will make interesting reading for Canadian Communists for it will tell them things about their party that many of them never suspected.

From it they will learn that every member of the party is card indexed in the Comintern headquarters in Moscow. They will learn that their party had its own secret police system which spied on the ordinary members in the interest of strict party loyalty.

They will learn, if they have not already suspected, that their leaders get instructions on policy from Moscow. They will learn that their leaders are assigned tasks directly from Moscow. They will learn that their party has secret wings composed of persons who have never carried party cards.

THEY WILL LEARN, in short, that in organization and operation their party differs in no important particular with the Ausland organization which Hitler set up to do the external dirty work for the German state.

They will learn what Moscow thinks of them. The Russians have a term for those who do spying for them. Page 97 of the report contains a reproduction of the Russian's card on Sam Carr. The first line gives name, the second his pseudonym and the third line reads:

"Since When In The Net?" Canadian Communists who were active agents of the Russian government were "in the net." They were fish in a trap and all kinds of tricks are used to keep them there.

The Russian spy system evinced an insatiable curiosity about the lives of its agents. They wanted to know details of their financial conditions. Of Sam Carr, there was this notation:

"Financially secure, but takes money. It is necessary, occasionally, to help."

THE RECORDS TAKEN from the files in the Russian embassy show that Mr. Carr was "helped" many times. He was also the paymaster through which money was passed from the embassy to Canadian spies.

With Dave Rose of Montreal, Carr was shown to be one of the main recruiting agents for the spy ring. Rose had been connected with the Russian secret police as far back as 1924. In 1942, he approached the director of this organization with an offer to do some work. His offer was accepted. It was he who got many of the most important agents "into the net."

The Russian records show how details of the lives of secret wing members' family got into the files. The attitude of wives toward the party was important. The arrival of children was duly noted. Racial origins were always noted.

BOTH CARR AND ROSE took special courses of instruction in Moscow. Carr graduated from the Lenin Institute and Rose took a special course in 1930 while working in Moscow for the Young Communist League.

These men were important keys in the secret Russian organization. That its existence cannot be blamed on the over-enthusiasm of the men stationed in the embassy here is obvious. These men were simply transmission channels for orders from Moscow.

Before an agent was recruited, full details of his life and attitudes were sent to Moscow. It was in the espionage headquarters in Moscow that the decision was made as to whether a man was to be "netted" or not. An Englishman, for example, who asked to be used as a spy, was the subject of enquiries to Moscow. Moscow gave orders that he was not to be used and that no agent was to have any connection with him.

IT WAS MOSCOW which set the price to be paid for the passport fraud. Sam Carr asked for $5,000 for getting the job done. This was rejected as preposterous and he got it done for $3,000. When the various agents were paid for their work, the amounts had to be checked back to Moscow. What is more, those accepting money had to sign receipts. Such receipts would come in very handy as blackmail threats if the spy ever changed his mind and decided to quit. There is no record of this happening in these cases.

Tasks were assigned by Moscow. There is record of cables back and forth in connection with ironing out the details of information wanted. The embassy-cabled Moscow asking for the type of Radar information wanted. Moscow cabled back and asked for specific categories. This was passed along to the agent who provided the material.

The process through which the Canadian Communist Party fashioned the spy ring for Russia will be outlined in a subsequent article.

(The first of a series of articles on the spy ring.)

"The young are clamoring for education." Yes, but too few people are learning to be teachers, and their number will decrease until they are offered good pay.

Love your enemies. All right. That is Christian doctrine. But is it a virtue to benefit your enemies at the expense of your friends?

If the offense is measured by the injury done to the victim, why isn't it a greater crime to steal a cook than to steal a purse?

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

The full extent of the damage done by the under-water atomic bomb in Bikini Lagoon hasn't yet been determined because death-dealing radioactivity still hangs about, but there's plenty to confirm that we have to do with a giant of awful might.

Howard Blakeslee, Associated Press science writer aboard the U.S.S. Appalachian at the scene, says this latest bomb was "probably the most powerful man-made force ever loosed—perhaps even stronger than the bomb that razed most of Nagasaki last August." In any event, we know that atomic energy is the greatest force on which puny man ever has succeeded in putting his halter. It is capable of unlimited destruction or can be made to work wonders.

The method of developing and controlling this new-found might is the world's No. 1 problem of the moment. And yet even as the experts were detonating the under-water bomb at Bikini, in New York the highly-explosive question of atomic control was being used for a football at the conference of the U.N. Atomic Energy Commission. One shudders at the thought.

The proposal of the United States for global supervision of atomic energy once more was up for consideration. This is the wholly altruistic offer of the United States to destroy its store of atomic secrets for peaceful use if the world will set up adequate safeguards to make sure this terrible weapon never again can be used as an instrument of war.

This proposal was put before the U.N. Atomic Energy Commission June 14. On June 19 Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate to the U.N. and representative on the Atomic Energy Commission, rejected the U.S. plan to abolish the veto on atomic matters and presented his own atomic control plan which would put the whole system of control under the Security Council and the United Nations' set-up.

Only July 12 the United States presented a further memorandum amplifying and explaining its proposal. Yesterday Mr. Gromyko exploded his own atomic bomb by flatly rejecting the American proposals once more.

Would You Trade Your Car For a Worn-Out Wreck?

Many a motorist who would not trade his car even for a new one wakes up some morning to find that he has lost the first new car he so perfectly drove and in its place has something without even much trade-in value.

There is never any more than one reason why a good car fails to stay that way. Neglect of the service necessities of any automobile will result in a worn-out old car far more positively and quickly than miles of driving.

Low cost mileage—pleasant, safe motoring—real dividends on the motor car investment—these all come to the wise motorist who spends a few dollars occasionally to keep his good car up to new car condition.

Here is an automobile service shop that is fully equipped with the knowledge and specialized equipment to service modern motor cars economically, intelligently and promptly. Drive in, and see how we make cars cost less and last longer.

Royal Theatre Opens As Movie House Tomorrow Night

Spanning the theatrical era from Otis Skinner, gilded baroque and ornate murals to Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, glittering steel and neon lights, the Royal Theatre will come to life again Friday night. The opening show will be "The Road to Utopia."

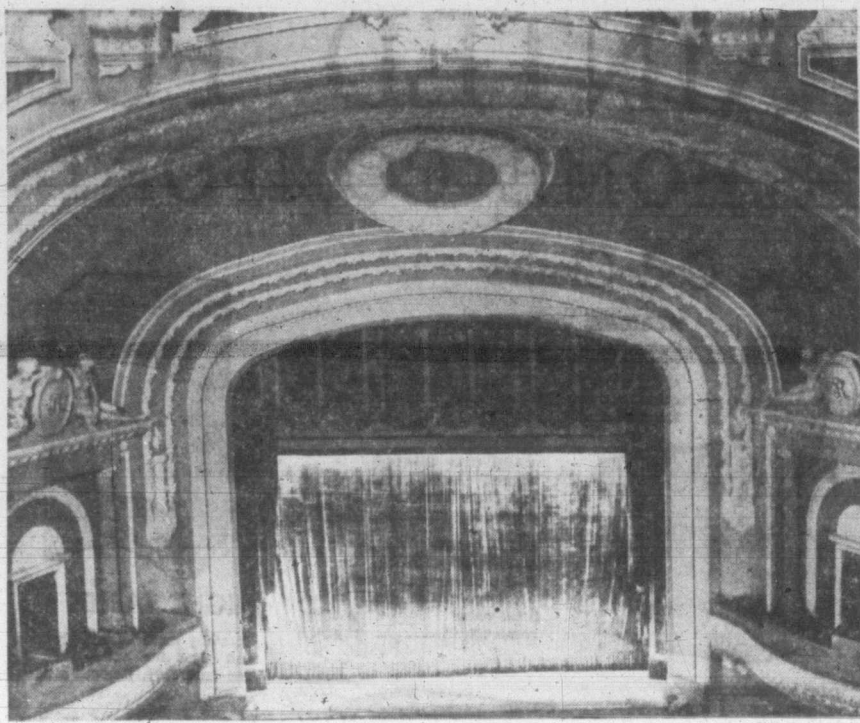

Victoria opera house, its history the story of the last 30 years in the theatre, has had its face lifted for motion pictures. Directed by Clifford Denham, Royal manager ever since the theatre's brilliant opening in 1913, more than 100 workmen have been hammering, painting, wiring, renovating in readiness for Friday night's ceremony.

Gone are the huge murals, pride of the original backers, the banners and pillars of scagliola marble imported from Italy, the gilt paint and plush curtains. Gone, too, are the downstairs boxes, the old drop curtain familiar to two generations of theatre-goers and the old flooring from the wide stage.

COMPLETELY REDECORATED

Under the supervision of Henry Ferch of Vancouver's Mastercraft Studios, the Royal has been completely redecorated with ivory, rose-red and grey as the color scheme. Ivory paint covers the former gold woodwork including the carved proscenium arch. A damask effect achieved with rose-red paint has been used on the panels where the murals used to be. Decking the runways is a foliage design against a pastel background.

One of the biggest changes is in the enlarged lobby with new doors, fluted steel door columns, a streamlined candy counter, renovated checkroom and terrazzo floor. There's another box office, too, under a stainless steel marquee lighted by neon tubing. Latest Victoria landmark is the roof sign 40 feet high with 17-foot letters.

Here footlights glow on the curtain which has replaced the bronze drop used at the Royal since the theatre was first built. Ivory paint covers the gold woodwork, including the carved proscenium arch.

New pull curtains and new flooring have transformed the stage, largest on the coast in the days when the Royal was built. New seats have been placed throughout the downstairs and in the dress circle while halls, aisles and lobby have been covered with deep carpets.

To Mr. Denham who has been in show business since the age of 15 there's nothing surprising about delays in materials and the final rush this week to make the Royal Theatre ready for reopening. Today he recalled how on the night of the first opening, Dec. 20, 1913, workmen were still pouring cement in the dressing rooms as a packed house cheered Otis Skinner's performance in "Kismet."

British Columbia's premier, the late Sir Richard McBride, made the opening speech on that night nearly 33 years ago. He also presented a loving cup to one of the city's most widely-known businessmen, the late Simon Leiser, who headed the group financing the Royal.

Chief backers were two other prominent Victorians, the late J. S. H. "Sam" Matson and R. T. "Dick" Elliott, newspaper publisher and lawyer, respectively. Before they consented to back the project Mr. Leiser had failed to get Victorians to vote for a municipal opera house or, as he had described it, "a temple of the muses, worthy of the city."

Unlike most managers Mr. Denham has saved few programs or pictures as souvenirs of the stars who played on the stage of the Royal Victoria. He recalls, nevertheless, how Otis Skinner was followed by other stars of the day—Forbes Robertson and Anna Pavlova, John Barrymore and Amelita Galli-Curci, Martin Harvey and Sarah Bernhardt.

CUES ON CHAIRS

He remembers how "the divine Sarah" gave a magnificent performance although her memory was failing on her last appearance here and she died a few years later. Stage hands wrote her cues on the back of the chairs they placed on stage and through out the play she picked up her lines as they walked from one chair to another.

Pavlova, Mr. Denham recalls, as an artist with little temperament and a tremendous capacity for hard work. She never gave a performance without doing a full two hours' practice immediately beforehand. She made her entire cast do the same, too.

Mention of Sir John Forbes Robertson brings to mind a government official who wrote asking for tickets to "The Light That Went Out" instead of "The Light That Failed."

Paderewski who played at the Royal several times always insisted on a muted lighting effect with an intricate system of lights for the stage.

Like every other legitimate house across the North American continent the Royal Theatre played the perennial farewell tours of Harry Lauder and Sir John Martin-Harvey. Mr. Denham tells how on his last appearance here Lauder went on to Seattle and Portland failing to bank his fees for his appearances after reaching Victoria. In Portland the comedian was robbed of more than $10,000.

Among the big road shows which came to the Royal 20 years and more ago were "The Student Prince" and "Blossom Time" with the original New York companies and the fabulous "Chu Chin Chow." When the latter arrived on a round-the-world tour the Royal was found to be one of the few theatres on this coast with a stage large enough for the big cast.

The "Chu Chin Chow" company brought a revolving stage but the first platform of this type, Mr. Denham recalls, came here with a British company playing the melodrama "The Whip." Victorians filled the theatre to see the Drury Lane cast and the race staged with real horses on the mechanical stage.

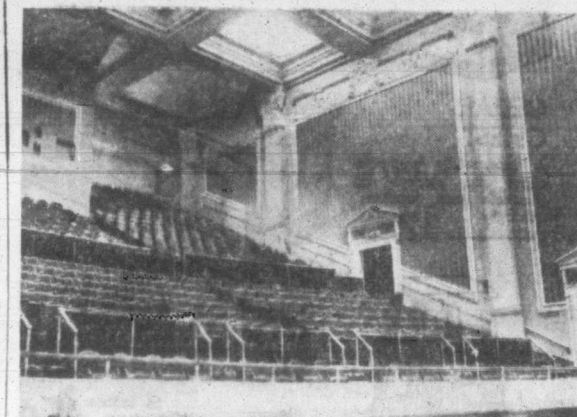

Early in 1914 the Quinlan Opera Company, biggest on tour, came with 125 members including a 40-piece orchestra. To make way for the musicians the first row of seats was removed from the pit.

Quinlan brought his company here from Australia where they had played a season staying several weeks in the principal cities. The Canadian tour, however, was not a financial success according to Mr. Denham for there were few theatres in the Dominion big enough to house the cast and the long jumps proved too costly.

Stainless steel has been used for the balustrades and columns in the enlarged lobby with deep carpets covering the floors, stairways and runways. Part of the pastel foliage design used on the runway walls can be seen in background.

Latest in theatre lighting shines down on this balcony scene, which takes in a corner of the newly-built projection room. Side panels which formerly framed the costly murals of another era are covered with a damask effect achieved through using two shades of rose-red paint.

Cliff Denham, Manager, Recalls Big Moments At Theatre

Dean of Victoria theatre managers, Clifford Denham, has managed the Royal since it first opened in 1913. In show business since he was 15, he recalls the greatest artists of two generations.

Other stars whom Mr. Denham recalls from the early days at the Royal include Jascha Helfetz on one of his early tours soon after his triumphant debut as a youth following his arrival in New York and Emma Trentini in Victor Herbert's "The Firefly." Trentini had a soprano voice of grand opera calibre which made her one of the most important stars of light opera.

Victorians also saw William Faversham and Julie Opp in "Julius Caesar," Robert Mantel in Shakespearean roles, E. H. Sothorn and Julia Marlowe with their New York casts.

Vaudeville fans saw some of today's top stars when they played two-night stands on the old Orpheum circuit at the Royal. Each Friday night brought a new show which would travel on to Vancouver over the weekend for a six-day appearance there. Among the headliners were Will Rogers, Fred Allen and Jimmy Durante.

Reared in the time of Victoria's first boom, housing the theatre greats of three decades the house has a history as tempestuous as that of any of the artists who have appeared on its stage.

For instance just two years after its grand opening the Royal fell on evil days. The Victoria Daily Times described the situation which arose "as unique in the history of the drama."

A mortgagee had foreclosed on the auditorium, section leaving the Victoria Opera House Company with a stage and no accommodation for an audience. The Times told how the mortgagee was "preparing to feature D. W. Griffith's great movie spectacle 'The Birth of a Nation' from the boundary wall of his portion of the theatre, stage or no stage."

"The owner of the front half of the property," read the newspaper account, "is not so badly off as the owners of the rear portion especially since the flickering drama seems to be the only sort Victorians can hope to see. He can hang a screen across the proscenium arch and present to as large an audience as the big auditorium will hold motion picture substitutes for the spoken play."

"Here is the owner of a fine big building or one-half of it and with all the conveniences for seating hundreds of people. But he cannot produce opera or play."

"On the other hand the theatre

Visible for miles is the new 40-foot sign atop the roof advertising the Royal Theatre in letters 17 feet high. Also new is the large attraction board beside the modernized entrance.

company possesses one of the largest and most adequate stage on the continent with all scenic accessories, machinery and dressing rooms that are models of comfort. It can stage any attraction on the road, but cannot offer the players any audience to listen to their efforts."

Incidentally Hollywood "used flamboyant adjectives to describe its 1916 products, too. 'The Birth of a Nation' was advertised as 'the greatest art conquest since the beginning of civilization.'"

The Royal Theatre's advertisement also mentioned the spectacle contained a cast of 18,000 and 3,000 horses. Total cost of the production was an unheard-of figure for a movie 30 years ago—$500,000.

A few months later differences over the two sections of the theatre were ironed out with the Dominion Theatre Company taking over them both. Accompanying the announcement was a story about the "world-famous Fox films" which would be introduced for the first time in any theatre in western Canada.

Shades of "Hearts and Flowers" and the music that another generation listened to with its silent movies are also contained in the account. It said "a six-piece orchestra will be present at every performance and will dispense the latest music during the showing of pictures." William Farnum, Annette Kellerman and William Shea were among the stars promised in the Fox pictures.

SIR HARRY LAUDER

Among the many comedians who tossed laughs from the stage of the Royal Theatre was the famous Scot, Harry Lauder, who was here on several farewell tours. George Robey, the popular English comedian, and Eddie Foy, the U.S. merryman, also played at the Royal. Marie Lloyd, England's favorite; Charlotte Greenwood, who is still creating laughs in the movies, and Anna Held, the dazzling French girl, were among the comedienne who played at the Royal.

curved hooks that line leaf and stem.

Its white four-petalled flowers are inconspicuous enough, but its prickly seed-balls are even more "cleavers" than the stems. Because geese are fond of it it has been called "goose-grass" and because a handful or so of its tangled stems has been often used in old days to strain milk it has also the name of "milk-strainer." Its roasted seeds are said to make a good coffee substitute.

CREeping CAMPANULA

The campanulas or bell-flowers are among the summer favorites of the garden, and in the forests we have the bluish-white one known as Scouler's campanula and on the rocks by the upper waters of our rivers the famous bluebell or harebell, Campanula rotundifolia. Gardeners' skill and plant-collectors' activity have given us many delightful species, from the small inhabitants of the rock-garden to the great Canterbury-bells.

A species sometimes met with in gardens combines beauty with a certain unpleasant aggressiveness of character that is worth noting. This is the creeping campanula of Bentham and Hooker, botanically known as Campanula rapunculoides, a common native of southern and central Europe and a rare and rather doubtful native of England and Scotland. It is a tall plant with slender purple flowers one above another in a long pointed raceme or inflorescence in which the flowers are all on one side.

The flower-bells are deeply cut and the green calyx turns back when they open. On the lower half of the plant flower-bearing stems spring from the axils of the leaves which are there larger and more heart-shaped. So far so good, and in certain situations nothing more is to be said. But in some gardens this campanula becomes a very great nuisance, extremely difficult of eradication.

The specific name "rapunculoides" means "rapunculus-like" and this refers to Campanula rapunculus, known as rampion and at one time cultivated in gardens for its edible root: "Rapunculus" means "little rape or turnip." Now the creeping it has vertical root-stocks with a creeping rootstock, but actually it has vertical root-stocks with a network of creeping horizontal ones, so that where it grows the ground is everywhere permeated with these pernicious centres of new life.

THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL

The little plant known as the scarlet pimpernel gave its name to a certain well-known novel and the play founded on it, but centuries before that it was a familiar object to all the country people of Europe. It was brought to this continent early in its history and, indeed, has accompanied settlement all over the world except the tropical and sub-tropical regions. Its red flowers of an unusual shade are set off by a bluish patch in the centre.

They are peculiarly sensitive to light, and it will be found that the blossoms open in the forenoon and close early in the afternoon. Even the coming up of clouds across the sun's face is marked by closing and for this reason the plant has been called the "poor man's" or the "shepherd's weatherglass." It has been recorded also that in the darkness of a solar eclipse the pimpernel closes.

While it is no doubt a weed it has its charms to lovers of the past and its associations, and at any rate it is not too hard to manage. Its spreading and numerous branches carry the flowers and their round seed-capsules over a wide circle. The capsules split round when ripe, the top coming off like a conical lid. Anagallis arvensis is its botanical name and it belongs to the primrose family.

CLEAVERS

The curious weed known by the suggestive name of "cleavers" is greatly flourishing this year. The moist cool weather seems to suit its curious clambering habit and from the minutest root it stretches out till it may be as much as five or six feet in height or length, depending on its obliging neighbors over whom it goes stretching out and holding on by its small backward

Unusual Plant Blooms Only At Night

Night-blooming ceriis, native of Honolulu. The plant, which is owned by Jack MacKay, 220 Dennison, is a cutting of the original and has 19 blooms, 10 of which came out one night, which is unusual, according to Mr. MacKay. The blooms live only one night and the plant must be kept indoors.

Health Department Needs More Nurses

OTTAWA (CP)—Any girl with a nurse's diploma and a yen for adventure is sure of a warm welcome at the health department's Indian and Eskimo Health Service headquarters here—especially if she has had experience with tuberculosis.

The health service, headed by Dr. P. E. Moore, acting superintendent, is out to beat the deadly respiratory diseases which take an annual toll of Indian lives and is campaigning for 100 more nurses in addition to the 115 they already have. Twenty more doctors will soon be enlisted in the fight.

The girls will staff the present 434 Indian hospitals, new ones to be opened, and nursing stations in outlying regions. The service already has 29 full-time and 700 part-time physicians. In addition, Mounties' wives and other "field matrons" with some medical training help out in the more remote regions.

So far most hospitals are in the settled, southern parts of the country. Canada's 118,316 Indians are scattered between Eskimo Reserve on Cape Breton Island and the Coqualectza Hospital at Sarnia, B.C.

Stations in Eskimo lands are in the blueprint stage, but are not expected to be completed this year. The white man's diseases have hit Eskimos in some sections hard.

"Our nursing service," said Dr. Moore, "has to be a sort of welfare service to teach Indian and Eskimo mothers care of babies, proper nutrition and clean and healthy ways of living."

New hospitals to be opened this year are the Charles Campbell Hospital at Edmonton—named for the former deputy resources minister, who was famed throughout the north—and one at Prince Rupert, B.C. Others are in process of negotiation.

Largest of the service's hospitals has 400 beds and the smallest, eight, with 1,300 beds in all. Five more nursing stations are being opened, including one at Gypsumville in northern Manitoba.

ELDERLY WIDOW'S PLIGHT

One of the most pathetic figures in the world is that of the elderly widow whose husband left her penniless when he died. She is in her fifties or sixties, in what we might call the youth of age, healthy and strong, with many years of life stretching before her.

She has always been a busy, useful, hard-working woman, making a home, rearing a family, nursing the sick, helping to bring babies into the world and shrouding the dead, cooking, washing, sewing, patching, turning her hand to any job that was needed to be done. Then, suddenly, all of this is taken away from her. She has no home to keep, no work to do, and she is desperate because she thinks she has no trade or profession by which she can earn a dollar.

So she goes to live with her children and is dependent upon them; and that is an arrangement that brings happiness to neither her nor to them. Often than not it results in the wrecking of a son's or daughter's marriage. For no woman who has spent 30 or 40 years as the head of her own home can slip into a subordinate place in any other woman's home, even if that woman is her daughter.

INTERFERES WITH ROUTINE

No matter how conscientiously Mother tries to sit on her hands, she can't keep them out of her children's ples, nor from feeling that she has a perfect right to interfere in all of their affairs, and to tell John's wife how she should rear her children, and to preach a sermon to Mary's husband about the sin of wasting his time playing golf.

Nor is Mother contented as an enforced inmate in her children's homes. She knows they would be happier without her, and that she is the cause of friction between the husbands and wives, and especially between the children and their parents. She is bored for lack of an occupation and lonesome for her own friends.

But she feels herself helpless to strike out and make her own living and be independent. And this is where she not only makes a mistake, but commits a crime, for it is a crime for any able-bodied woman under 70 to sit down on the do-nothing stool and become a parasite on her family. For as a general thing, she is healthier and stronger than her daughters who are going through the child-bearing and baby-raising period, and her skinny granddaughters who are standing behind counters and pounding typewriters.

A DOZEN SKILLS

And as for her thinking that she doesn't know any way to make money, why, she has a dozen skills at her fingers' end for which the world is just simply clamoring to pay. Would anybody hire little inexperienced schoolgirls as baby-sitters, who wouldn't know what to do if Johnny got the group, if they could get women who had reared families to come and watch over their youngsters when they stepped out of an evening? Aren't there millions of kitchens just jawning for good plain cooks who could name their own price if they could make edible biscuits?

And if you think there is no call for elderly women to be companions to old people, or to take care of semi-invalids, or to mother motherless children and keep house for widowers who want to keep their families together, just try to find one. They are as scarce as hen's teeth.

Women make a great mistake when they become dependents on their children while they are still able to be usefully employed. They still have 20 years' good work in them, and they are happier doing it than they are if they are hung like a millstone around their sons' and daughters' necks.

I.O.D.E. Garden Tea Successful Affair

Many guests attended the garden party and tea held Wednesday afternoon at the Beach Drive home of Mrs. F. McLeod and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Olson, under the auspices of Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E.

Mrs. T. Lumsden, regent of the chapter, assisted Mrs. McLeod in receiving the visitors, and Mrs. H. Catterall was general convener.

Summer flowers were used to decorate the rooms where tea was served from a table covered with a lace cloth and centred with a low white pottery bowl filled with sweet peas and gypsophylla. Mrs. J. L. Gates and Mrs. McLeod presided at the urns. Assisting with tea arrangements were Mrs. Moulton Smith, Mrs. F. Huelin, Mrs. L. A. Lucas and Mrs. E. Eve.

A program arranged by Mrs. K. R. Roskelley featured dances on the lawn by pupils of Florence Clough, including a solo gypsy dance and a clever adagio number.

Home cooking and miscellaneous stalls were in charge of Mrs. M. Fife, Mrs. B. Ripley and Mrs. H. Lethaby. Mrs. J. McKenzie handled game receipts. Approximately $100 was realized and will go towards the Second War Memorial Fund.

Garden Party Held at Langford

A garden party was held on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bayles, Langford, Wednesday afternoon, by members of the Langford P.T.A. Mrs. A. F. Bayles, past president, and Mrs. C. Johansson, president, greeted the guests, who included Mrs. E. Evans, Mrs. L. R. Harper and Mrs. M. A. Hurst, P.T. Council officers.

Tea was served in the garden, where the lace-covered table was centred with a huge bowl of summer blooms.

Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen presided. Assisting with the tea were Mesdames G. Lamb, T. Millward, C. F. Holmgren, V. Franklin and Miss Viola Savage.

Mrs. E. Jeffery convoked bingo and contests were in charge of Mesdames H. W. McKenzie, N. Bedard and H. A. Hineks. Mrs. J. E. Glenn read tea cups.

Plane Narrowly Misses Empire State Building

NEW YORK (AP)—Empire State Building officials said a twin-engine plane, thundering out of a heavy fog, narrowly missed ramming the 86th floor of the world's tallest building shortly before noon Wednesday. O. W. Young, district administrator for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, said the plane involved was a U.S. Coast Guard Lockheed Lobsenz, which landed at Floyd Bennett Field after a flight from Washington.

Best Canning Results With Firm Tomatoes

Tomatoes are one of the best and least expensive sources of vitamin C, and they are the easiest of all vegetables to can. Here are some good rules for home canning of tomatoes worked out by experts.

Look over every tomato. Use only the ripe, firm and perfect. Wash tomatoes clean in several waters and don't bruise. Prepare only enough for one canner load at a time.

Put tomatoes in a wire basket or thin cloth. Dip into boiling water about a minute, then quickly into cold, for easy peeling. Cut out stem ends and peel. Quarter the tomatoes so they'll heat through quickly.

Heat tomatoes in their own juice. Stir while they heat, and let them come to a rolling boil. Meantime heat clean jars and lids. When ready to pack, take one jar at a time from hot water. Fill with hot tomatoes. A funnel is handy. Cover with hot juice to within 1/2 inch of top. Add salt—a teaspoon to each quart. Work fast, so tomatoes won't cool.

Work out air bubbles with a knife blade. Add more juice, if needed. Wipe jar rim with a clean, damp cloth. A speck of food on the rim may prevent an airtight seal and cause the tomatoes to spoil.

For canning in jar with three-piece top seal, fit hot wet rubber ring on glass lid. There is a ledge on the under side where the ring fits like a collar. Set the glass lid rubber side down on the jar, so that rubber ring and jar rim are in contact. Screw metal band on tight. Then, using your thumb as a guide, turn back almost a quarter turn, or so that

Peacetime Jeep Now On Display Has Improvements

Conceived in war and made famous as the "go-devil" mechanical work-horse that solved many of the Armed Forces' transportation problems, the powerful and far-famed "Jeep" arrived in British Columbia in civilian dress this month and is now on display here, it was announced today by Masters Motors Limited, recently appointed local Willys dealers by Willys Distributors (B.C.) Ltd., subsidiary of Ferguson Truck and Equipment Co. Ltd., of Vancouver.

Its stability and stamina proved by billions of miles of military driving on all of the world's war fronts, the new peacetime "Jeep" is said to have greatly improved springs and shock absorbers, cushioned spring seats and a unique "transfer gear" providing instant choice of either four-wheel or two-wheel drive. Basically it is a utility vehicle capable of operating in all kinds of roads and weather; designed to function efficiently as either a tractor, truck, mobile power plant or economical "runabout."

The farm uses of the new "universal Jeep" are many, claimed the manager of Masters Motors Limited. "It can pull discs, cultivators, plows, cattle trailers, or hay racks. Through its rear front or side power take-off points, it can be used to operate threshing machines, crop sprayers and orchard dusters, portable saws of power-driven mowers."

Parts and components are simple, it was said. Designed by Willys in co-operation with army ordinance, the four-in-one motor vehicle has been built to function with its famous wartime power on farms, in industry and on the highway. The new steering gear makes it as easy to handle as a car. The gear shift is mounted on the steering column for fingertip control. New gear ratios give highway speeds up to 60 miles per hour in two-wheel drive, while a simple shift to four-wheel drive provides sufficient power to haul loads through sand, mud or "gumbo" and over the roughest roads.

Scores Ask News Of Wounded Policeman On Way To Recovery

Constable Cornish, his wife and baby, Carolyn.

Constable Stanley Cornish, city policeman wounded by a gunman early last Saturday morning while he was investigating a stolen car at Hillside Avenue and Shelbourne Street, soon will be able to take more notice of the great interest being shown in him by Victoria citizens.

Jubilee Hospital reported today the motorcycle officer had a good night Wednesday and was showing slight improvement in his critical condition.

Fellow policemen on the city force as well as hundreds of friends outside the department and many complete strangers who inquire about his condition daily welcomed the news.

MANY CALLS DAILY

Desk sergeants at the police station say they receive between 15 to 25 telephone calls every day asking about Cornish and wishing him well.

"When we ask them who is speaking, they usually say we wouldn't know them; that they're just interested strangers," said Steve Dunnell of the desk sergeants.

Baskets of flowers fill the corridor outside Cornish's hospital room and more brighten his home at 1621 Fernwood Road where his wife anxiously waits reports on whether or not he will survive from the abdominal wound he received when shot by a .38 calibre bullet fired at him without warning by a suspected car thief.

Many of the flowers have been sent by people unknown to the Cornish family. They have been very much appreciated.

"Everyone has been so good to us that it is hard to express my feelings of gratefulness," Mrs. Cornish said today.

NIGHTMARE TO WIFE

"The last five days have been a nightmare but things look brighter now. Thank goodness our little girl is not old enough to realize what is wrong."

(The little girl, Carolyn, is two years, four months).

Travel Ration Cards Up 100 Per Cent

Ration Administration office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in the Belmont Building is one of the busiest spots in town these days, as temporary ration cards are issued to visitors, particularly American tourists.

Business is up 100 per cent over last year, according to A. B. Foods, ration officer.

In June of 1945, 259 cards were issued as compared with 491 in June this year. The figure for July is expected to reach 1,000, as against 466 in July, 1945.

"Visitors who are preparing their own meals and who are here for a week or more, qualify for a temporary ration card," said Mr. Food. "Those living in hotels and eating in restaurants, or those staying here less than a week, do not."

"The cards are issued not just to individuals but for a family, so 1,000 cards could represent 3,000 people."

B.C. Salmon Fishing Off To Poor Start

Commercial salmon fishing in British Columbia this season is off to the worst start since 1943.

Statistics released today by the chief supervisor for the Dominion fisheries department showed the total pack for all districts of British Columbia to last Saturday at 110,493 cases. Last year at this date the pack had been 197,606 cases, while the 1944 pack to this date had totaled 144,048 cases.

Poor sockeye fishing is responsible for a major portion of the loss. Total sockeye pack to date this year is 75,701 cases, against 152,686 at this time last year. The blueback pack is down to 1,865 cases from 6,498 at this time last year, the coho pack to 14,588 from 18,941, and the pinks pack to 9,130 from 11,459.

Little change is noted in the spring and steelhead packs. On the other hand the chums pack is up to 6,199 from 4,539.

Victoria Praised In Holiday Magazine

Victoria is a fascinating mixture of quaint, old-world European atmosphere and worldly cosmopolitanism according to James A. Fitzpatrick, maker of the famous travelogues, in an article in the August issue of "Holiday" magazine.

Titled "After a Million Miles," the article tells of interesting places to visit and devotees, more than half a column to Victoria. It carries a picture of the harbor.

"The residential section, especially the architecture and gardens on its principal street, Rockland Avenue, is supposed to be the most typically English locality in the Western Hemisphere," writes Mr. Fitzpatrick. "Victoria harbor, with Parliamentary Buildings so close they are reflected in the water, reminds me of many European harbors, particularly those in Holland."

For a short sight-seeing visit he recommended Butchart's Sunken Gardens, Pender's Topiary Gardens, the 46-mile Marine Drive and Thunderbird Park.

Coupon Gifts Drop

A sharp drop in donations of food ration coupons during the first two weeks of July with 4,457 for two weeks in June, was noted Wednesday by Brig. W. K. G. Colquhoun, who is in charge of the collection in this area.

"I believe people are just forgetting to send in their unused coupons," he said. "I wish to remind them that we still need all the coupons we can get in order to increase our food shipments to Europe." Coupons must still be valid when donated and may be sent or brought to 602 Broughton

THESE TIRES ARE DIFFERENT... THEY OUTWEAR PRE-WAR TIRES!

They're rugged and road-right. They outwear and outdistance the finest pre-war tires. They're the New Silvertowns... the greatest tires that B. F. Goodrich leadership in rubber research and engineering has ever produced.

A new kind of rubber is used—developed by B. F. Goodrich and once guarded as a close military secret. A new kind of cotton cord is used—also developed by B. F. Goodrich. The result is a tire with a body 35% stronger—a tire that runs cooler, has more resistance to bruises—and gives more mileage than you have ever had before.

The new longer mileage Silvertowns are made in different types of tread design... including the famous Life-Saver Tread that wipes wet pavements dry... and the Road-Level Tread that puts a wider, flatter rubber surface on the road to share the burden.

For more mileage and greater safety, get the New Silvertowns... the greatest mileage tires of all time... built by B. F. Goodrich, makers of over 32,000 articles in rubber, including footwear and industrial rubber products.

Saanich Growers Still Need Berry-Pickers

Saanich growers are still in need of pickers, especially women and girls, to help harvest their small fruit crop, according to the Farm Labor Service. The loganberry season will continue for about another two weeks, followed by the blackberry season. The majority of growers, in order to encourage pickers to stay to the end of the season are paying a slight increase for logans. So far this year the service has registered more than 1,000 volunteers for berry-picking. A number of these, however, have now taken their holidays or have left for various reasons and must be replaced in order to finish the season satisfactorily. One of the ancient Roman aqueducts is 56 miles long.

Oak Bay By-Laws Provide For License On Horse Racing

Oak Bay council Wednesday evening introduced two by-laws: One for the licensing of horse racing in the municipality, and the other authorizing a license charge of $150 a day.

Formerly, horse racing was authorized with a permit, now a by-law requires that a license shall be held before the permit will be granted. The by-laws were made under authorization given by an enactment of the last session here of the legislature.

A petition by the Estevan Meat Market and four others for a by-law to close meat shops all day Wednesday will be sent back to the petitioners with the information that the petition was not in order and that it did not bear the required 75 per cent of the signatures of meat shops in Oak Bay.

The council agreed to extend a wartime agreement whereby rental of the site of the army observation post at Walbran Park was made at $1 per year. The extension was given on the understanding the army would carry out its suggestion to remove the entry porch, false roof and chimney of the observation post and repaint the entire structure an olive or dusty green color to merge with the area surrounding it.

Appointment of E. Scroggs as parks superintendent was confirmed by the councillors. The council received a letter from the Victoria Board of Police Commissioners asking if the council would endorse setting up a juvenile detention home and participate in covering costs and give power to the Oak Bay Board of Police Commissioners to pro-

Ottawa Not Taking Applications For Book

Applications for the book "Holland and the Canadians," produced in the Netherlands as a commemorative gift to the Canadian soldiers who liberated that country, will not be accepted by National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa, the army announced today.

Canadian Legion, Army and Navy Veterans of Canada and active and reserve army units in B.C. all are accepting applications from soldiers and veterans who served in Holland; while veterans without any affiliation may address individual requests to P.R.O., H.Q. M.D. 11, Vancouver, B.C.

The book includes the history of 2nd Canadian Corps and an article on Holland during the war.

3,500 U.S. Fishermen Strike For Higher Prices
SEATTLE (AP) — The Puget Sound area's more than 3,500 salmon fishermen still were without a contract today, refusing to man boats until their demands were granted for a 25 per cent increase in the price of salmon, plus wage increases.

The present price for salmon is 16 cents a pound. The fishermen asked 20 cents. A spokesman for the operators said 18 cents had been offered, and refused by the men.

Admiral Visits Esquimalt Naval Base

Vice-Admiral H. E. Reid, C.B., R.C.N., shortly after he arrived in Victoria for a five-day visit.

The Canadian naval chief of staff, Vice-Admiral H. E. Reid, C.B., R.C.N., today visited H.M.C. Dockyard. While touring the dockyard he visited the frigate Charlottetown and the cruiser Ontario. The admiral also visited stores and other naval buildings at the dockyard. Wednesday he toured the naval oil depot, the magazine, the boom defence depot and Royal Roads Naval College.

On Friday it is expected Admiral Reid will visit H.M.C.S. Naden in the morning and H.M.C.S. Malahat in the afternoon. There is no program for the admiral over the week-end and he is scheduled to go to Vancouver Tuesday morning when he will visit H.M.C.S. Discovery.

Sonata Program At Summer School

Sonatas by Veracini, Franck and Arthur Benjamin were presented at the Summer School of Education Wednesday morning recital by Anne Tschopp, Gompost, Swiss violinist, and Irene Bostwick, Seattle pianist.

The Cesar Franck A Major Sonata proved to be the highlight of the program, with both artists catching the desired mood admirably.

The program closed in a gay mood with the playing of Benjamin's Sonatina.

Angling

By "CAP" THORSEN
A contingent of Victoria's angling club—members of the city and Saanich association—will participate in the international fishing picture on the Labor Day week-end, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, when they invade Port Angeles for the ninth annual salmon derby. It was learned today from George "Joker" Paton.

Paton, long an active personage in the progress of the V.S.I.A.A., is in charge of all local arrangements for the angling classic on the other side, in which prizes totaling $5,000, include two new automobiles.

This year's invasion by the local fleet will be the first since the early war years. The friendly "good neighbor policy" between the Victoria and Port Angeles clubs has been in vogue for many years which has resulted in yearly invitations by both clubs to send members over to fish in their international derbies. The local event is the next on the association's agenda, August 11, and by the way, the last membership fishing competition of the 1946 season.

Dr. Hayes of Port Angeles and Herb Mocker, secretary of the P. A. Chamber of Commerce and Salmon Club, are among the Americans who will be over to participate in the August 11 event, reports Paton.

A PRIZED PRIZE—FRIGIDAIRE

From Harry Woolston, president of the V.S.I.A.A., comes word that plans are already being shaped to make the international derby the year's biggest angling fest. There will be a rich prize list and already it is learned a frigidaire has been secured. An enlarged committee will be struck to handle this event.

Two other events are on the menu of the association following the August 11 competition. These are the Chinook Club derby August 25, open only to the "chamepeens" who have caught a button fish and have joined the Chinook ranks, and the Alcock Shield, at a September date to be announced, in which all those members who have registered button fish this year can angle for.

Indications, incidentally, point to several members shooting for possession of the Poodle Dog Cafe Cup. This goes to the member reeling in the most button fish caught on Wednesdays, Saturdays afternoons, Sundays and holidays during the association's calendar year.

Jokers, Tillicums In Boxla Struggle

Manager Tom Carney's Jokers boxla unit, in a tie for second place in the Victoria Box Lacrosse Association with Foul Bay, will take on Sid Anderson's Tillicums tonight at 6.45 in the box at Stevenson Memorial Park.

A victory for the orange-and-black uniformed Jokers will give them a berth alongside Canadian Legion in the leadership position, while a verdict in the win column for the T.A.C.'s will hoist that team a notch higher to create a three-way deadlock for the second position.

Reg Wenman Stars In Incogs' Victory

With Reg Wenman putting on 105 not out, University School Incogs scored a 156 to 87 win over Spencers in yesterday's cricket match. D. Morgan also marked up 33 runs for the winners.

V. Pritchard with 28 and Bob Colquhoun with 19 led Spencers at the wickets.

Wenman also had the best bowling record of the match with six wickets for 21 runs.

V.M.D. In Win Over Eagles 10-9; Release Schedule

V.M.D. came up with another win in the city ball league last night at the expense of the last-place Eagles, 10 to 9. It was one of those free-scoring affairs with little good baseball. Shipyarders scored their runs in clusters, pushing across five in the second and four in the sixth.

Eagles enjoyed a tie at 6 to 6 in the top of the sixth and managed to pick up three more runs in the last three innings but couldn't get back in the picture.

Jimmy Morrison, regular shortstop, started on the mound for the V.M.D., but had to leave under fire in the eighth with Tommy Musgrave taking over. Eagles opened with McWhirter in the box, he being replaced by Stan Curry in the third. Curry was officially charged with the defeat on the strength of the four runs the V.M.D. picked up in the sixth.

League officials last night announced the remainder of the league schedule and playoff dates as follows:

- July 29—Legion vs. V.M.D.
- July 30—Eagles vs. V.M.D.
- July 31—Eagles vs. Legion.
- August 1—V.M.D. vs. Legion.

- August 25—Legion vs. Eagles.

Playoff dates follow:
Semifinal, best-of-five series:
August 30—Second team vs. third team.
August 31—Third team vs. second team.
September 1—Second team vs. third team.
Other games as necessary.
Finals, best-of-seven series, starting on Sept. 6, 7 or 8.

Over 150 Entries For Colorful Highland Games Here Saturday

James Bay's Macdonald Park enclosure will be the scene of the year's most colorful spectacle Saturday when the Victoria Highland Games Association presents its ninth day-long program of Scottish games, embracing track and field, individual and band bagpipe competitions and highland dancing.

The show, which president Jimmy Dewar and secretary John Mackay declare will be "the finest games program we have ever presented in the nine years we have been promoting them," reported yesterday that assurance of 150 entries had already been received. Many of this number are entered in three and four events.

The sounds of skirling bagpipes will fill the air from 9 in the morning until late in the day. The official opening ceremony will be at 2 in the afternoon with Lieutenant-Governor Woodward officiating.

From the two officials it was learned that a powerful contingent of track and field performers from Vancouver's Hudson's Bay, Owl Club and Police Mutual Benefit Association will be over to vie in the field and on the track against coach Archie McKinnon's track and field team, wearing the Victoria Flying "Y" colors.

TUG-OF-WAR SCHEDULED

The mainland city policemen will also send over a tug-of-war team to battle Victoria's city police strong men. The athletic show starts at 2.15.

In the neighborhood of 50 of the province's "choicest artists with the pipes will compete in the individual piping events, and the dancing entries will be strong.

Dodgers Up On Cards

Those who have started to count Brooklyn Dodgers out of the National League pennant race because of their recent near-disastrous road trip, have done so without taking into account Brooklyn's amazing home record at Ebbetts' Field where they still have 38 games to play this season.

Forced to share the National League's top berth with St. Louis Cardinals for four days after leading the parade for more than two months, the Dodgers wasted little time upon their return home yesterday to regain undisputed possession of first place.

This they did by the simple medium of notching their 30th victory in 39 home games, at the expense of the third-place Chicago Cubs while the Cardinals were thrashed by New York Giants.

The Dodgers eked out a brilliant 2 to 1 triumph over the Bruins, principally on the fine hurling of southpaw Joe Hatten. The Giants, nemesis of the Redbirds all season, shoved the St. Louis aggregation one game behind the Brooks when they beat the Cards for the ninth time in 14 meetings this season, 3 to 1.

In the American League, the pace setting Boston Red Sox maintained their 1½ game margin over the runner-up New York Yankees by taking advantage of a pair of miscues to defeat Chicago White Sox 4 to 1. They had the help of errors by Luke Appling and Frank Hayes to tally three unearned runs.

The Yankees kept pace with the Red Sox by coming from behind to defeat St. Louis Browns 5 to 3.

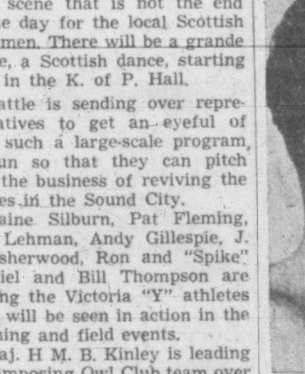

Cleveland's Bobby Feller racked up his 18th win and seventh shutout of the campaign in pitching the Indians to a 1 to 0 triumph over Bob Savage and Philadelphia Athletics.

Carpenter Hurls, Bats Athletics To Victory

With right-hander Johnny Carpenter holding the opposition to three singles and scoring the only run himself in the ninth inning, Victoria Athletics nosed out Spokane Indians 1 to 0 in their Western International League ball game last night.

It was a big night for Carpenter, the curve ball artist from Smithers, B.C. After working through eight smooth innings to give up hits to Schultz, Sabena and Varrelman, the Victoria pitcher opened the ninth with a double to centre field. He was sacrificed to third by Eddie Murphy and scored on Frankie Cirimele's single.

Spokane threatened in the ninth when Hawkins walked to put the tying run on the bags but Carpenter settled down to retain his shutout.

Victoria picked up five hits off Joe Faria with first baseman Vic Buccola getting two for three.

WORK NINE PITCHERS

Nine pitchers went through their paces last night in a futile effort to stop an avalanche of 42 base knocks which rattled off the bats of Salem and Wenatchee diamonders as the Oregon nine regained undisputed possession of first place. Final score—at last count—was 25 to 18.

Each of the clubs had an eight-run inning during the three hour and 10 minute contest which saw Dick Adams, Wenatchee first sacker, taking bating honors with a perfect six for six, including two home runs and a pair of doubles.

Elsewhere in the league it was a night of pitchers' battles with Tacoma and Bremerton splitting a pair of one-run wins to stay nip and tuck in their race for third place. Tacoma edged the opener 8 to 7 only to have Bremerton come back in the second game for a 3 to 2 10-inning triumph.

Yakima scored a twin win over Vancouver in the Canadian city by 6 to 4 and 2 to 0 scores.

Short score follows:
First Game—R H E
Yakima 4 11 1
Vancouver 2 8 1
Batteries—McHugh and McConnell; Marshall and Spurgeon.
Second—R H E

Auto races will return to the Langford Speedway Saturday night with six cars from Seattle and way points scheduled to take part. All the local boys will have their cars tuned up for the events, and competition should be keen. First race is set for 7.45.

The program will include helmet dash, three or four heat races and the main event.

Digger Caldwell, Victoria driver, who has won every main event to date, will be on hand with his speed buggy after throwing a rod during the races at Portland last week-end.

Athletics May Get Working Agreement With N.Y. Yankees

Victoria Athletics, local entry baseball, may have a working agreement with the famed New York Yankees of the American League next season, as the result of a meeting here today between Joe Devine, Pacific coast scout for the major league club, and the directors of the Victoria team.

"The Yankees are definitely interested in securing a working agreement with Victoria, providing such an arrangement does nothing to hurt the agreement now in operation between Victoria and Oakland of the Coast League," Devine said. "On the other hand the Yankees and Oakland have always been closely associated, and I think it will be quite simple to work out an agreement which will suit all parties concerned."

Devine is accompanied by Sylvester Johnson, former major league pitcher, and up to this year with Seattle Rainiers of the Coast League. Johnson, who opened the season as manager of the Vancouver Capilanos of the W.L.L., has been appointed Yankees' scout for Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

Following the conference Devine and Johnson paid a visit to Athletic Park to look over the home field of the Victoria team. Both of them played in Victoria many years ago, Devine as manager of the old Calgary club in 1914, and Johnson with Vancouver in 1920.

Turf Conditioning Equipment Wanted

Purchase of turf-conditioning equipment costing $1,077 from Great Britain will be recommended to the City Council, Ald. D. D. McTavish, chairman of the parks committee, said today following a meeting.

Expenditure of $2,200 to make an extension to the greenhouse is also being considered to take care of additional flower baskets being put up on the streets.

It will be recommended that a portion of Gorge Park on the west side of Tillicum Road be leased to the Capital Taxi Company, which wants to build a cafe and taxi-stand there.

Expenditure of $250 to improve the beach by Dallas Road opposite the end of St. Lawrence Street will also be recommended, Ald. McTavish said.

Estimates of the cost of hard surfacing the lacrosse box at Stevenson Field are being obtained.

It has been necessary to rescind permission recently granted the Victoria American Rugby Association to play games in Athletic Park Friday evenings this fall, Ald. McTavish explained, because of the difficulty of reconditioning and remarking the field for soccer on Saturdays.

It is being recommended to the lands committee that lots on the northeast corner of Chapman and Linden and on the northeast corner of Everts and Bushby Streets be set aside for junior playlot purposes.

The Youth Action Committee has been granted permission to use Heywood Avenue football field Monday evenings from July 29 to Aug. 26, and the possibility of staging concerts at the bandstand Friday evenings is being investigated.

Work has started on the widening and improvement of Blanshard Street, north of Pandora Avenue, Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the public works committee, said today. Work also is under way on the resurfacing of Belleville Street, on McClure Street between Blanshard and Burdett and on Linden Avenue, from Dallas Road to Oscar Street.

To Serve Mainland, City And Island's West Coast

SS. Chilkoat as she came down V.M.D.'s ways May 14.

The converted China coaster type vessel Ss. Chilkoat left here today for Vancouver to begin her service with the Frank Waterhouse Co. Ltd., sailing between Vancouver, Victoria and ports on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The vessel left Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd. at 10 this morning for Yarrow's Ltd., where she loaded a bow rudder for the Coquitlam, a corvette now undergoing conversion in Vancouver for coastal trade.

The Chilkoat will pick up a crew and supplies at Vancouver and then leave immediately for the west of the island.

With the Chilkoat when she left here were Capt. E. F. Talbot, marine superintendent of the Frank Waterhouse Co. Ltd.; J. McGilligan, Union Steamships, and Sterling Beck, assistant manager of the Waterhouse Co. All three came over here to attend to the ships port of registry, which is Vancouver, and to accompany her to the mainland.

Commanding the vessel is Capt. M. C. Uldall.

The Chilkoat was launched at V.M.D. on May 15, and was the first vessel to take the water there since the end of the war. She was the 29th vessel built by V.M.D. since 1940.

She is 224 feet in length and has a 36-foot beam. When loaded she will steam at approximately 10 1/2 knots. Total deadweight cargo will be approximately 1,500 short tons, equivalent to 45,000 full-size cases of canned salmon. She has been equipped to carry a total of 32,000 gallons of fish oil in two separate compartments in her forepeak tank, and has large double-bottom fuel oil tanks which may be used to carry oil to various plants on the island as well as supplying fuel for the vessel's own use.

The Chilkoat has also been equipped with two large cabins, each with two bunks, located under the bridge, for passenger accommodation.

Three Vancouver Island firms were among 26 companies registered during the week under the Companies Act at the Parliament Buildings.

The new island firms are: Windsor Properties Ltd., $50,000; Victoria Crystal Lake Logging Co. Ltd., $10,000; Nanaimo and Armour & Saunders Ltd., $10,000; Duncan.

Safecrackers Fail

Safecrackers failed to break open the safe of the McCall-Frontenac Oil Company, 120 Kingston Street, Wednesday night, and left a quantity of their equipment behind.

Detective Angus Munro of the city police said a dial on the safe had been knocked off and an attempt made to blow open the door.

A fuse and other paraphernalia used by safecrackers were recovered.

Entrance to the oil company office was made through a rear window which had been jimmied open.

First Tuna Catch To Arrive In 1946 Consists Of 2 Fish

First tuna catch of 1946 to reach Victoria arrived at Western Fish Co. (Victoria) Ltd. on Wednesday. The catch consisted of two tuna weighing a little over 15 pounds each.

Last year the first tuna catch arrived four days earlier when Levitt Comeau brought 5,135 pounds of tuna aboard his boat Dorabell II to B.C. Packers Ltd., July 20.

Iver Robertson, Prince Rupert, was the fisherman with the first tuna catch this year. To catch his two fish, he spent nearly a week searching for tuna 150 miles off Cape Flattery.

First catch of the year for the Pacific northwest was made by a Seattle fisherman, who took four tuna to the U.S. port last week after two weeks of fishing.

Last Saturday, the first report of a school of tuna sighted was received here but, although many fishermen left here to seek the fish, there are still some tuna boats in Victoria waiting for the tuna to work their way farther north. It is estimated there will be approximately 120 tuna boats fishing out of Victoria and Vancouver when the fishing improves.

Arrivals aboard the Letitia earlier this week include Mrs. Ellen Crowe, 1507 Fernwood and Mrs. Dorothy Edwards, 31 Regina.

Large Crowd At B.C.E.R. Outing

More than 500 employees of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, their families and friends, yesterday afternoon participated in the annual company picnic at Shawinigan Lake.

A lengthy program which included 16 events was run off during the day followed by the prize presentation. Prizes were distributed by W. C. Mainwaring, Vancouver Island operating vice-president of the company, after the introduction of A. E. "Dal" Grauer, Vancouver, president of the company, who with Mrs. Grauer, joined the Victoria staff for the day. Other Vancouver representatives included George Lunn, president of the Vancouver Office Employees' Association, and O. A. Peterson, personnel manager. Also introduced during the presentation ceremonies was Howard Taylor, vice-president of the Street Railwaymen's Union.

The picnic was the first in which employees of all departments had participated and events were hotly contested with well-filled lists of entries.

A sitdown lunch was served in the Shawinigan Lake Athletic Association hall and tea was served later in the afternoon. All arrangements for the outing were in charge of a committee representing various departments under the chairmanship of W. E. Holland.

Tentative Dates Set For Distribution Of Ration Books

Tentative dates for distribution of ration book No. 6 in the city and Oak Bay have been set for September 10, 11 and 12. A recommendation to that effect will be made by the local ration board to Mayor Percy E. George, Mrs. H. L. Smith, member in charge of distribution, said today.

It is expected that books will be distributed at the City Hall and at the Oak Bay municipal hall for three days and at schools for two days.

Some 250 members of the Parent-Teacher Association have volunteered to handle distribution at the schools. Mrs. A. E. Hopkins will be in charge at the City Hall and Mrs. W. R. Russell assisted by Mrs. H. A. Booth and Oak Bay municipal hall.

War-time Prices and Trade Board is now making arrangements for distribution of 90,000 to 95,000 ration books in the Greater Victoria area, which takes in Esquimalt to the boundary of Sooke, Saanich Peninsula, Salt Spring Island, James Island and Oak Bay, according to A. B. Food, local foods ration officer.

Approximately 170,000 new books will be distributed throughout Vancouver Island.

B.C. Car Drivers Set Record Total

British Columbia today has more car drivers than ever before in history.

Reports of the Motor Record Office of the Attorney-General's department showed more than one person in five in British Columbia licensed to operate a car or truck. Total registration was given by the office at 193,028, an increase of 36,875, during the past year.

At the same time the number of cars and trucks licensed to operate on B.C. highways has increased by 7,479 to 132,531, the office reports.

Of the 193,028 British Columbia's licensed to drive cars, 2,321 have authority to drive buses, 2,608 to drive taxis and 25,312 to drive trucks. The remainder are limited to driving passenger vehicles.

The 132,531 cars licensed to operate in the province include 32,429 commercial vehicles. There are also 2,367 motorcycles and 6,294 trailers licensed to operate on the province's highways.

One T.B. Case Found At Summer School

One case of active tuberculosis was discovered among several hundred Summer School of Education students as a result of X-ray examination it was reported by Dr. C. B. Conway, principal of the school.

He said that in his opinion the stopping of one case made "the hundreds of tests certainly worth the effort."

He advised teachers to take the lead in having X-rays when traveling clinics come to their communities. "Even if you feel perfectly healthy and have been X-rayed a dozen times you should set an example for your community," he declared.

Students will be vaccinated against smallpox and given the Schick test for susceptibility to diphtheria Monday and Tuesday. These days have been carefully chosen for the end of the term so that positive reactions will not have time to set in before examinations—Aug. 1 and 2.

A.F.L. Council Backs Province Strikers

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.) executive at a meeting Wednesday night reiterated its support to the striking typographical workers of the Vancouver Daily Province.

The meeting took "an extremely serious view" of the recent injunction granted against the picketing by the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.) of the Daily Province Building.

"The outlook for labor is very black if injunctions of this kind are going to be the bosses' weapon to fight legitimate and responsible trade union groups," said George Wilkinson, secretary of the council.

The views of the council were forwarded to H. Finch, international representative of the I.T.U. in Vancouver.

Two cases of salmonellosis have been reported in Victoria to date this year, Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer, said today. This is the normal incidence of the disease, which usually occurs in several cases during the summer season, he said.

Principals of the high schools in Greater Victoria will be in their offices the last week in August to confer with students and their parents about courses, J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools, said today. He said that the School Board office would not handle inquiries about individual courses.

The visit of John W. Ogg, senior secretary of the Y.M.C.A. Building Bureau, New York, to Victoria to make a survey in connection with the construction of a new local "Y" building is definitely set for August 28, Frank Paulding, general secretary reported today. The visit will only be a day long and after making his survey, Mr. Ogg will meet the board of directors.

To there undulation for your part as to whether you should sell your property at this time? Here are the facts.

Not all of us will be able to live in brand new houses, with all of the modern gadgets, when the time comes that enough materials and skilled labor are available. As surely as all of us are unable to live in the same section of the city.

So, if you're thinking of disposing of your property in the near future, why not do it now?

The opportunity is certainly here and there are many people, especially ex-servicemen, who will be more than glad to find a place to live.

We're in a position to get SPLENDID RESULTS. We make our reputation on being able to do a better job.

Hollywood Column.

By HOWARD C. HEYN
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Screen-shunning Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne have no cause for alarm as yet, but Cornell Wilde has served notice that he is anticipating the day when his family will be billed as "The Wildes."

William Bacher, who directed Wilde in "Leave Her to Heaven," thinks the team idea is wonderful, from a commercial point of view.
Says the august Darryl F. Zanuck: "It should be interesting." And when D. F. Z. says it's "interesting," that means he has an idea, too.
Cornel confided that the project may start this autumn. Plans are being formulated for the screen debut of his wife, Patricia. What's more, the picture won't include him.
"It's better if she starts on her own," Cornel said on "The Homestretch" set. "Then, when we do a picture together, it will be that much easier."

Marsha Hunt's reason for freelancing: She says M.G.M. discovered that she's too versatile. The beautiful Chicago girl told me on the "Smash-up" set, where she is on loan-out, that this is her final chore for that studio film folk.

"I realize," said she, "that it is very nice working for a big studio like Metro, and I'm very thankful. They certainly take good care of you. I couldn't make a single trip without finding six studio men there to greet me. They took care of every little problem."
But apparently there was one little problem they didn't take care of: Marsha's future.

"They were too busy developing their youngsters," she said. "They knew they could depend on me for all types of roles," she added. "It got so bad that producers would come up to me and say, 'I hate to ask you to do this small role, Marsha,' but when I make my big picture, I'll remember this. But they never did."

Mean To Stand By Farm Legislation

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan said Wednesday at the opening session of the three-day provincial C.C.F. convention that no matter what attitude the Supreme Court of Canada might adopt towards Saskatchewan's farm security legislation which will be reviewed in the fall, the provincial government had complete authority in the field of property and civil rights.
"We have extensive and far-reaching power and, if necessary, will use those powers quickly and effectively," he told delegates.

Brangwyn's Etchings On Show Next Week

Starting next Tuesday at the Little Centre, 965 Yates Street, there will be on show an exhibition, which should appeal especially to tourists from the United States, where the work of Sir Frank Brangwyn, R.A., is widely known especially his mural paintings in many public buildings. Canada has hitherto had little opportunity of seeing and getting to know Brangwyn's work, but 18 months ago the artist himself selected 30 of his etchings and presented them to the Vancouver Art Gallery. These are the etchings that will be on view at the Little Centre and they are being shown through the courtesy of Mrs. K. E. Maltwood, who is herself a former pupil of Brangwyn.
Accompanying these etchings is a collection of water colors by a young American artist, Harold Gaze of Pasadena, Calif. Mr. Gaze's work is still comparatively unknown on this side of the line, but his luminous and sparkling water colors have aroused great interest and admiration wherever they have been shown.

The first air combat occurred in the First Great War when a British pilot flew over a German plane and shot at it with a revolver.
